

Taylor Calcara Serves as Congressional Intern with Moran

GREAT BEND - Congressman Jerry Moran announced today that Taylor Calcara is serving as a congressional intern in his Washington, D.C., office. Calcara is a 2005 graduate of Great Bend High School.

"I began my career in public service with an internship in Washington, D.C., and I am pleased young Kansans like Taylor are able to have similar experiences," Moran said. "Taylor's hard work and care for Kansans have made him valuable to my efforts to serve folks back home."

Calcara will begin his junior year this fall at Kansas State University, where he studies finance and accounting. At K-State, he is an active member of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity where he serves on the standards committee and as recruitment chair. He is also an Ambassador for the College of Business Administration. Calcara plans to attend law school after finishing his undergraduate education.

"I am enjoying living and working in our nation's capital," said Calcara. "It has been a pleasure working on issues important to Kansans back home."

In the office, Calcara assists Congressman Moran with legislative and administrative duties on behalf of the people of Kansas.

Taylor is the son of Mark and Melanie Calcara of Great Bend.
